Chamber's business in the Spotlight: Faber Homes

Bernie Iacovangelo, president and co-founder of Faber Homes, represented Faber in receiving the Business in the Spotlight Award recently from the Gates-Chili Chamber of Commerce.

Gary Domenico, with the Chamber Board of Directors, presented the award Dec. 14 at the Chamber's holiday luncheon at Brooklea Country Club.

Over 75 people were in attendance. The Business in the Spotlight Program recognizes businesses in the Gates and Chili area for their contribution to the economic vibrancy and development of our communities.

Faber Homes has been building affordable housing for families since 1981 and employs 30 people.

Domenico said he appreciates that Iacovangelo is an active participant in both his business and community. Recently, Faber Homes was the driving force behind building a home for a soldier that served two tours in Iraq.

"His conservative financial management philosophy and proven business acumen have provided great stability for his organization for 30 years," Domenico said.

Iacovangelo is also involved in the community as a soccer coach and chairs the St. Pius dinner fundraiser.

ROCHESTER

Parrish named executive director at GEVA

Tom Parrish will join the GEVA Theatre as executive director. Parrish's appointment ushers in a new era in the rich history of the 38-year old organization.

Parrish comes to Geva from Merrimack Repertory Theatre in Lowell, Massachusetts where he has served as executive director since 2006. During his tenure there, Parrish was responsible for eliminating the company's deficit, stimulating audience growth and donor development, transferring the company's first Off-Broadway production, establishing an endowment, building the company's local and national reputation and leading the company through a challenging economy, all while operating the company in the black each season. Prior to joining, Parrish served as general manager of San Diego Repertory Theatre, where he received the NAACP Theatre Award for Best Producer.

DO YOU HAVE BUNIONS?

A bunion typically involves a dislocation of the big toe joint. As the joint dislocates, the bony prominence will create pressure pain from shoe gear. With time the abnormal position of the joint will lead to worsening of the deformity, may cause painful corns, hammertoes and eventually lead to painful arthritis. Early treatment may prevent or slow the process allowing patients to have a more active and pain-free lifestyle!

Call now for a consultation with Dr. Canzoneri or Dr. Buoye to determine if you are a good candidate for surgery and get back to walking comfortably in shoes again!
